Round 5 - Over 24,000 fans packed the hillside at the Crandon International Off Road Raceway this weekend to witness the mayhem that is the Traxxas TORC Series presented by AMSOIL.

The Hord Racing Team was eager to take the track and show everyone why we are "The BOSS" Snowplow Team. Practice went well and Chad was ready as the green flag flew. The Kumho Tires put the Mazda power to the ground and Chad charged ahead and looked like he would take the hole shot, but was forced out by the truck to his right. Coming out of the corner in fourth Chad battled his way up to second when the truck he passed, pushed him wide in the gravel pit turn, forcing Chad off the track. Chad lost some positions and found himself running in fourth at the competition yellow. On the restart Chad made a hard charge on the leaders and quickly found himself running in second place. Chad pushed his Mazda powered #9 hard, continually gaining ground on the leader. As the white flag came out, running temperatures over 300 degrees, Chad was confident his AMSOIL protected engine would last as he pushed it to the limits. Putting up the fastest lap of the race and a Crandon track record lap, Chad fell just short of catching the leader and had to settle for second place.

The Hord Racing Team, shattered the previous track record of 1:31.2 by Jeff Kincaid, with a lap time of 1:29.6 and is the first Pro-Light team to ever run a lap in the 1:20's.

More spills, Less Thrills

Round 6—The team was happy with the second place they had earned on Saturday, but would not be satisfied until they felt they had the truck running at its peak performance. After staying up late into the night working on a transmission gear change, the team felt they had the truck to beat for Sunday's race. Coming into the legendary turn 1 at Crandon the #9 looked to be in a good position as they entered the turn. Exiting the turn, Chad held his line and was gaining on Kincaid, who turned into Chad while trying to protect his inside as they launched off of the jump, causing The BOSS Snowplow, Pro-Light to barrel roll several times before landing on its roof on the infield of the track. Track workers waited until the trucks came by again to turn Chad over. Never a quitter, Chad fired up the truck and reentered the race a lap and a half down.

Chad took it easy for a lap to ensure that there was not significant damage to the truck. Deciding most of the damage was cosmetic Chad began his charge and was reeling in the field. By the competition yellow Chad had caught the back of the pack. At the restart Chad charged ahead and worked his way through the competition.

Chad had caught back up with the leaders and was running in the fourth position, one lap down when the race ended, finishing in seventh place.
